PROCEDURE

¡ARRIBA LA BARBILLA!

Rapid weight loss, aging, or even genetics can cause saggy under-chin skin. Dr. Doris Day of Day Dermatology and Aesthetics recommends Ulthera. It uses focused ultrasound energy to regenerate collagen and create a lift. Results can last for up to two years; treatment may have to be repeated in six to nine months.

BYE BYE BARRIGA

Dr. Bruce Katz of Juva Skin & Laser Center suggests UltraShape to shrink pudgy lower abs. It uses pulsed, focused ultrasound waves to shake up fat cells, breaking their fragile walls. Post-treatment, you release the newly broken up fat through the body's natural processes. (Ahem...in the baño.)

NUEVA NARIZ

Been considering a nose job but scared of how it would turn out? Dr. Philip Miller of Gotham Plastic Surgery says Liquid Rhinoplasty can temporarily (for up to a year) change the shape, size, and position of the nasal bridge, straighten the nose, and even hide bumps by using fillers such as Restylane, Juvéderm, or Belotero.

CIAO, CELLULITE

Over 80% of women have cellulite, but Dr. Leyda Bowes of Bowes Dermatology says there's a quick treatment to significantly reduce it. Velashape III uses combined radio frequency energy and infrared heat to reduce fat cells and form new collagen. The end result: Less cellulite, less lumpiness, tighter skin, and a smaller circumference.

PELO POWER

Over 30 million women report losing their hair each year. Dr. David Rosenberg, founder of Hair Care MD, recommends platelet-rich plasma to get it back. Here's how it works: A doc draws a bit of blood and combines it with liquid calcium, which causes blood platelets to rupture and release their growth factors. That liquid is then injected into your scalp.

OJERAS PA' FUERA

Got dark circles that no amount of sleep can fix? We feel your pain. Thin undereye skin, which only gets thinner as you age, makes veins visible, casting shadows. Dr. Paul Jarrod Frank, founder and director of Fifth Avenue Dermatology Surgery and Laser Center, recommends Restylane/Hyaluronic acid injections to correct hollows and pigmentation.
