

The best drugstore facial moisturizers, according to dermatologists

INSTYLE MAGAZINE

March 01, 2018 12:00 pm

You don't have to max out your credit card on a moisturizer to keep your skin hydrated, and the proof is in your drugstore's skincare aisle.

Scrolling through online product reviews is one way of narrowing down what moisturizers are the best to try for your skin type. But who knows more than strangers on the Internet about what skincare products are the best? Dermatologists.

That's why we polled five top dermatologists to find out what moisturizers they'd buy at the drugstore. Keep scrolling for the best drugstore moisturizers for every skin need.

1 Aquaphor Healing Ointment

Need extra protection from harsh winter winds? “This moisturizer is perfect for very dry skin. I recommend a light application on the face before bed to treat extremely dehydrated skin. It provides an extra layer of protection for your skin compared to standard moisturizers,” says Dr. Paul Jarrod Frank, celebrity cosmetic dermatologist and founder of PFRANKMD and PFRANKMD Skin Salon.

Aquaphor | $13

3 Eucerin Calming Creme

“This is a great inexpensive moisturizer whether you have sensitive skin or not,” says Dr. Frank. “It lasts all day, is not too thick, and absorbs well. The lotion is very cooling, with menthol, which makes it great for summertime.”

Eucerin | $9